

Cooking adventures that connect family, community, culture, math, science, language arts and social studies

Dress Code: Our dress code has to be strictly enforced to ensure the safety of your child. All young chefs should be dressed comfortably but with safety in mind.

- No open-toed shoes please. Sneakers are perfect because they are closed and slip-resistant;
- Clothing should NOT be loose or flowing;
- No large or long jewelry;
- Long hair should be tied back or up;
- Aprons are optional, and Chefsville aprons are for sale for a minimum donation of $10; and
- Students should bring a small cooler, basket or tote bag to transport their treats home.

Liability Waiver. Chefsville cooking camps, classes and other activities have characteristic risks, dangers and hazards. Participation in such classes and events may result in injury or illness. Chefsville instructors, assistant instructors, each of its present and former owners, principals, members, agents and employees are not liable for damage, losses or personal injury resulting from participation in Chefsville programs, cooking camps, classes or events.

Misconduct and Disciplinary Procedure. Chefsville reserves the right to terminate the training of any student at any time for misconduct, theft, use of alcohol or drugs, disruptive behavior causing any endangerment to anyone else, or other reasons, as they in their discretion shall believe necessary.

Photo Release. Chefsville reserves the right to take photographic or film records of any of its programs, and may use any such photographic or film records for promotional and/or commercial purposes without any remuneration to the student/participant and/or parent/guardians. The student agrees to assign all right, title and interest they may have in or to any media in which their name or likeness might be used by Chefsville.

Menus. We reserve the right to substitute ingredients and menu items. However, we will make every effort to remain true to our advertised menu.
